2. For our larger investments, making a grant starts with a conversation. And our door is open to anyone who knocks. You can learn more about each grantmaking program and how to reach out below. We do not have open ‘calls for proposals’ or deadlines for these grants, so we encourage you to reach out to learn if your work is a fit with our mission and priorities.

2021 GRANTMAKING STRATEGY

In 2021, we will invest approximately $4.5 million in community-driven solutions to reduce social and economic barriers to Western Montanans’ health and wellbeing—particularly for families living in poverty and American Indians—through four core grantmaking programs: Early Childhood Initiative, American Indian Health and Wellbeing, Policy Engagement Fund and GO! Grants.

Early Childhood Strategic Initiative

Goal: Build resilience for kids in their earliest years

Total Fund: $2,000,000

When we first began digging into Montana’s health disparities, we heard time and again from people in Western Montana that we should focus on children in their earliest years, getting as far upstream as possible. If we could help provide a stable foundation from the start, we’d prevent future problems. We also heard loud and clear that every community is different in Montana, and in order to achieve real, sustainable impact, the work must be driven locally. Under that direction, Headwaters supports the following efforts:

1. Zero to Five Montana. Headwaters is the seed funder for the Zero to Five Initiative in Montana. Through this effort, Headwaters funds a select number of locally-driven, multi-sector collaborative groups working to advance opportunities for children ages 0-5 in Western Montana, as well as a statewide resource office. You can learn more about Zero to Five at www.zerotofive.org. We currently fund collaborative efforts in Beaverhead, Lincoln, Mineral, Missoula, and Silverbow counties. If you are part of local early childhood coalition effort in one of the other counties in our funding region and want to learn more about funding opportunities, please contact Ashley Shaw, program officer at ashleys@headwatersmt.org.
2. Additionally, Headwaters will explore funding early childhood projects in communities where a collaborative does not exist. To learn more about funding opportunities, please contact Ashley Shaw, program officer at ashleys@headwatersmt.org.

American Indian Health & Wellbeing Initiative

Goal: Support healthy and thriving American Indian Communities in Western Montana

Total Fund: $925,000

Headwaters Foundation acknowledges the deep traditional values and strengths of Indigenous people, specifically American Indians in Montana. Over the last year, several workshops and conversations between Headwaters Foundation and American Indian leaders in Western Montana identified key areas for strategic investments that will best support American Indian health and wellbeing in our region. Through these conversations, the themes of Sovereignty, Culture, and Family emerged as areas where Headwaters could support work. In 2021, Headwaters will focus funding on Family & Community Resilience on the Flathead Indian Reservation, Urban Indian Health and Wellbeing, Cultural Preservation in Schools on the Flathead Indian Reservation, and Food Sovereignty.

Policy Engagement Fund

Goal: Support a better environment for the advocacy of policies that reduce social and economic barriers to health in Montana

Total Fund: $800,000

In order to achieve health equity in the state, Headwaters acknowledges that we must go upstream and affect the policies that impact people's lives. Through this fund, Headwaters seeks to increase the capacity of organizations doing policy and advocacy work; increase collaboration among policy organizations, especially across sectors; support organizations working to engage and mobilize members in policy work; and support research that will lead to better policy-making on social and economic issues affecting people's health. In 2021, Headwaters will focus on funding organizations, community organizing efforts, or networks focusing on improving policies related to our priority social determinants of health. Additionally, we are interested in supporting research that will lead to improved decision-making on policies in our priority areas as well. Priority areas include:

- Family Resiliency (early childhood education & development, child welfare, family support)
- Food (food access, food security, access to foods that support healthy eating patterns)
- Housing (quality of housing, affordable housing, stable housing)
- Social Inclusion (civic participation, discrimination, incarceration, Indigenous traditional knowledge & culture)
- Mental Health (children's mental health, maternal mental health (pre/post-natal), family mental health)

Proposals to this fund are by invitation only. To learn more about this fund and whether your organization is a fit, please reach out to Erin Switalski, program director at erins@headwatersmt.org.

GO! Grants

Goal: General operating grants to build the resilience of children and families (ages 0-18)

Fund total: $600,000

Through this fund, Headwaters will offer grants up to $7,500 in general operating support for nonprofit organizations working in Western Montana's most rural communities to promote healthy lives for children and families. To qualify for funding, an organization must primarily serve rural areas* in our region outside of urban centers, serve families experiencing poverty or American Indian communities, and demonstrate that the bulk of their work is aligned with the following strategic focus areas:

- Family Resiliency (early childhood education & development, child welfare, family support)
- Food (food access, food security, access to foods that support healthy eating patterns)
- Housing (quality of housing, affordable housing, stable housing)
- Social Inclusion (civic participation, discrimination, incarceration, Indigenous traditional knowledge & culture)
- Mental Health (children's mental health, maternal mental health (pre/post-natal), family mental health)

*Applications are accepted online via the website. Headwaters defines rural as areas outside of Butte, Kalispell, Helena, or Missoula.
